

[Home Town Living, December 4, 2003]

Books by local writers...

Local Author, Erika Knudsen, has recently self-published her second novel, Resurrected, which is a continuing story about her vampire character, Deirdra O'Dea, from her first book Beyond the Threshold of Death, Knudsen says her writing has matured since the first publication and those who enjoy a good read about the dark side of vampire life should check out her latest publication. Owner of Serenity Hair Studio in Stony Plain, Knudsen finds time to write sometimes in between clients and is already thinking of her third book. Her books are on sale at the shop in Main Street Market, Storyteller in Stony Plain or go online at www.erispublishing.com to find out more information.